WHAT IS A TRBHA

Tribal Regional Behavioral Health Authorities (TRBHAs)

Tribal Regional Behavioral Health Authorities (TRBHAs) are tribal entities that have an intergovernmental agreement (IGA) with the Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS) administration. TRBHAs coordinate the delivery of comprehensive mental health services to all eligible members assigned by the administration to the tribal entity. TRBHA members may be enrolled with the American Indian Health Program (AIHP), or with another AHCCCS plan for acute services. TRBHAs work collaboratively with providers to ensure care coordination for their members. TRBHAs and providers need to coordinate services by sharing and exchanging information to ensure effective treatment for the members. The sharing and exchanging of clinical packets by hospitals and Level I facilities to TRBHAs ensures continuity of care and discharge planning for
